From the Secretary General

The end of June brings a busy and much anticipated month of meetings and project deliverables to a close. The high point was the return to in-person interactions during our committee meetings and Global Seminar held in Dubrovnik, Croatia. We benefitted from an inspiring location and excellent hospitality from our colleagues at the Croatian Financial Services Supervisory Agency (Hanfa), leading to productive meetings and engagements amongst members and with stakeholders.

This ability to meet in person not only added to the efficiency and effectiveness of our decision-making processes but it contributed considerably to rebuilding social capital. It was a chance to reaffirm our commitment to working together, across members and stakeholders, on pressing topics of resilience and sustainability.

The Executive Committee (ExCo) meeting saw a packed agenda, with topics ranging from progress on implementation of key reforms like the Insurance Capital Standard (ICS) and Holistic Framework for the assessment and mitigation of systemic risk in the insurance sector, to our work on strategic topics such as Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (DE&I), cyber risk and climate risk.

A detailed description of the outcomes of the ExCo meeting is provided in the section on Committee and Subcommittee Activities below, but I did want to take this opportunity to highlight a few key achievements and decisions.

We reached another key milestone in the ICS project with agreement to launch the public consultation on the draft criteria that will be used to assess whether the Aggregation Method provides comparable outcomes to the ICS.

With respect to our work on implementation assessment of the Holistic Framework supervisory material, we have made good progress on the second phase – the Targeted Jurisdictional Assessments (TJAs). The preliminary results of the TJAs were shared with and supported by the ExCo.

And finally, regarding the 2022 Global Monitoring Exercise (GME), ExCo reached agreement on the scope of the collective discussion on the assessment of systemic risk in the global insurance sector and the appropriate supervisory response to systemic risk if it arises. The ExCo collective discussion will be held in September and will provide important input for reviewing the initial years of implementation of the Holistic Framework.

The 2022 IAIS Global Seminar then picked up on these themes as well as others top of mind for the insurance sector, providing a rich set of discussions.
These discussions have provided us with excellent inputs for our September strategic retreat, when we will be discussing IAIS priorities for the year to come.

To follow on the heels of these successful in-person meetings, ExCo also agreed on both the dates and venues for the 2023 milestones events. Committee meetings and the Global Seminar will take place the week of 12-16 June in Seattle, US and the committee meetings, Annual General Meeting and Annual Conference will take place the week of 6-10 November in Tokyo, Japan.

Although we learned to operate effectively in the virtual environment during the pandemic, we have also seen the tangible benefits that flowed from this week of in-person engagement. I look forward to continuing to build our connections and sharing of experiences in our in-person meetings to come.

Jonathan Dixon, Secretary General

In Focus

Mapping the resilience of the insurance sector

The IAIS Global Seminar tackled key issues on insurance sector resilience as the world starts to emerge from the Covid-19 pandemic and faces an uncertain economic outlook.

Returning after a three-year break as a result of the global pandemic, the Global Seminar welcomed over 350 participants from 70 countries to Dubrovnik on 16-17 June.

The event opened with an update from members of the IAIS Executive Committee (ExCo) leadership team on key projects and themes, and the main outcomes of the previous three days of committee meetings, during which the rapidly changing macro-economic outlook was a key topic for discussion. Stakeholders were invited to take the opportunity to ask IAIS ExCo members about the IAIS’ priorities and work.

Challenging times

The Global Seminar’s panel discussions began with a session on how inclusive insurance can support sustainable development. Panellists noted the importance of financial education and the benefits of digitalisation to increase access to insurance products.

During a lively panel discussion on climate risk assessment, panellists highlighted the urgency of addressing risks posed to the insurance sector by climate change after the United Nation’s recent “red alert”. The panel also noted the importance of work to build supervisory capacity.

With constantly increasing cyber risks in the insurance sector, a third panel discussed several of the risks, including those from silent coverage, increased cyber underwriting and model maturity, and the pressing challenge of talent shortages. This discussion highlighted the importance of the IAIS’ work to support supervisory understanding of the operational risks posed by cyber and how those risks need to be managed with the growth of the cyber underwriting market.

“Rebuilding social capital for the insurance supervisory community is key to delivering our objectives.”

Jonathan Dixon
IAIS Secretary General

Momentum for key reforms

In the face of growing macroeconomic risks, a panel discussed the steps supervisors and insurers need to take to address risks on the horizon. They discussed the benefits of the IAIS’ Holistic Framework, which helps to assess and mitigate risks to the global insurance sector with both a sector-wide and entity-based view on emerging risks.

Members of the IAIS ExCo then discussed the momentum for the Insurance Capital Standard (ICS) as it enters the third year of the monitoring period and moves from a conceptual framework to the implementation of a global standard. The session also served as a background session for the consultation on draft criteria that will be used to assess whether the Aggregation Method provides comparable outcomes to the ICS. There was a strong call to action for stakeholder input to the consultation.

The Global Seminar provided excellent inputs as the IAIS develops its 2023-2024 Roadmap. The importance of addressing climate protection gaps, cyber risk and a continued focus on the ICS are expected to be key priorities.

In his closing remarks, IAIS Secretary General Jonathan Dixon thanked our hosts, the Croatian Financial Services Supervisory Agency (Hanfa), for their excellent hospitality and welcomed the opportunity to come together again in November 2022 at the IAIS Annual Conference in Santiago, Chile.

PARTNERSHIPS
Renewal of the IAIS A2ii IAA Partnership Agreement for Actuarial Skills Capacity Building

On 17 June, the IAIS, Access to Insurance Initiative (A2ii) and the International Actuarial Association (IAA) signed the extension of their Partnership Agreement for Actuarial Skills Capacity Building for five years. The objective of the partnership is to enhance supervisory understanding and application of actuarial concepts and tools, and this new agreement will become effective on 1 November 2022.

This partnership contributes to the IAIS high-level goals (HLG) 3 – Supervisory Practices and 4 – Observance of standards, by leveraging supervisors’ actuarial skillset to help ensure that the preconditions for observance of the IAIS standards can be met.

The partners have already developed a training curriculum for an intensive one-week course for insurance supervisors. In 2019, the course was delivered to Sub-Saharan Africa, the Caribbean and Asian supervisors, reaching 91 insurance supervisors from 53 jurisdictions. In 2021, the curriculum was adapted to a combination of self-paced online modules and live virtual sessions, reaching 43 supervisors from 20 jurisdictions in the Sub-Saharan Africa region. In 2022, the course took place in Spanish for the first time for 50 Latin American supervisors.

Under the extension, the partners aim to further their outreach through enhanced virtual access on A2ii’s digital learning platform for supervisors and reduce barriers to understanding by delivering the training in different languages. While maintaining its global focus, the curriculum will continue to reflect regional diversity and varying needs. Finally, the partners will also recognise the relevance of emerging risks and trends in the design of the training material.

The extension was signed by Victoria Saporta, Chair of the IAIS Executive Committee; Peter Braumüller, Chair of the Governing Council of the A2ii; and Roseanne Harris, President of the IAA.

The IAIS, A2ii and IAA celebrate this milestone to reinforce their commitment to the supervisory community and look forward to the next five years.

PUBLICATIONS
IAIS publishes Report on Supervisors’ use of key indicators to assess insurer conduct

The IAIS recognises culture and conduct as a key focus area in insurance supervision and observes that conduct risks can lead to financial soundness concerns for the sector and vice versa.

Accordingly, supervisors are increasingly looking to adopt more forward looking and outcomes-based approaches to conduct supervision. This includes using certain data points as key indicators of insurer conduct.

On 29 June, the IAIS published a short report prepared by the Market Conduct Working Group on the findings of an IAIS member survey on current supervisory approaches and challenges related to using key indicators to assess insurer conduct. Fifty-one authorities across developed and EMDE jurisdictions responded to the survey.
The report covers:

- The number and type of indicators collected by supervisors;
- The purposes for which supervisors use the conduct indicators; and
- The challenges encountered by supervisors.

Key takeaways

- Most supervisors collect 20 or fewer indicators to assess insurer conduct.
- Complaints data and claims data are the dominant sources of key conduct indicators.
- Analysed conduct data typically identifies potential misconduct and supports formal enforcement measures.
- About half of the survey respondents use conduct data to inform product interventions and consumer education initiatives.
- Poor prioritisation of conduct-related issues by insurers and a lack of supervisory resources are the top two challenges faced by supervisors.
- Difficulties interpreting and using conduct data arise due to definitional issues, insurers’ inability to provide certain data, and poor data quality.

Supervisors are encouraged to consider the information in this report as they continue to build out their own approaches to conduct supervision.

As a next step, the IAIS is working on developing practical guidance for member supervisors on the use of key indicators to proactively monitor conduct risks to enable more timely response to emerging conduct trends and risks. This is expected to be made available to IAIS members in Q1 2023.

To access the report, please click here.

For more on the topic of conduct and culture, mark your calendars for an upcoming A2ii-IAIS Supervisory Dialogue on 21 July focused on insurer culture.

CONSULTATIONS

IAIS launches consultation on draft Comparability Criteria

The IAIS has released a public consultation on the draft criteria that will be used to assess whether the Aggregation Method (AM) being developed by the US and other interested jurisdictions provides comparable outcomes to the Insurance Capital Standard (ICS).

The draft criteria have been developed in such a way that the AM is neither precluded at the outset as an outcome equivalent approach to the ICS for measuring group capital nor given a free pass.

Stakeholder feedback on the draft criteria is particularly important to provide a range of perspectives on this unprecedented area of work and gauge views on the appropriateness of the draft criteria. Responses to the consultation will help ensure the criteria take account of the complex issues that have to be addressed with this work.

The ICS panel held at the IAIS Global Seminar served as a background session for this consultation. The session can be viewed by clicking here.

The session panellists emphasised the importance of the public consultation and encouraged stakeholder feedback to inform future discussions.

Following consideration of stakeholder comments, as well as ongoing work within the IAIS on the technical parameters, the IAIS will finalise the criteria that will be used to assess whether the AM provides comparable outcomes to the ICS. The final criteria, along with the definition of comparable outcomes and six high-level principles, are expected to be adopted at the IAIS Annual General Meeting in November 2022.

Stakeholders are invited to respond to the consultation at the following link until 15 August 2022 midnight CEST.

RECENT

EIOPA 2022 conference | Virtual | 21 June

IAIS Executive Committee Chair Vicky Saporta spoke at the European Insurance and Occupational Pensions Authority (EIOPA) 2022 conference on 21 June. In her speech, Vicky set out the emerging risks to the insurance sector with the changing economic outlook. She set out the importance of global coordination of emerging risks such as climate change and cyber, which by their very nature are cross-border.

Vicky also provided an update on the progress of the monitoring period of the Insurance Capital Standard (ICS) and the details on the recently published consultation on draft criteria that will be used to assess whether the Aggregation Method provides comparable outcomes to the ICS.

BIS Annual General Meeting | Basel | 25 June

IAIS Secretary General Jonathan Dixon took part in a panel discussion at the Annual General Meeting of the Bank for International Settlements (BIS) together with Secretaries General from the other international financial standard setters to discuss action to address climate risks in the financial system.

Jonathan noted the consensus amongst IAIS members on the need for immediate action to address risks posed to the insurance sector by climate change, including the need to address spill overs to other parts of the financial system.

He highlighted the four pillars of the IAIS’ work on climate risk:

- Risk analysis – using the Global Monitoring Exercise to gather data on insurance sector exposures to climate risk on both sides of insurers’ balance sheets.
- Standard setting – climate risk is a driver of existing risks and needs to be integrated into insurers' sound governance and risk management. The IAIS will make changes to the guidance for the Insurance Core Principles and consult on new supporting materials next year to ensure effective treatment of climate risk.
- Supervisory practices – the IAIS is supporting its members to address practical challenges to the assessment of climate risk with capacity building on climate scenario analysis.
- Disclosure – the IAIS is actively engaging with the work of the International Sustainability Standards Board.

Jonathan also noted that the IAIS expects to start new work later this year on the role of supervisors in helping to address climate protection gaps.

iii-lab update

III-LAB COUNTRY WORKSHOPS | 8-29 JUNE

The third Inclusive Insurance Innovation Lab (iii-lab) is a 12-month long process aimed at helping multi-stakeholder teams from four different countries to come up with innovations to increase resilience of the most vulnerable segments in their societies against the impacts of climate change.

In June, the final country-level workshops took place in Costa Rica, Grenada, Zambia and Zimbabwe. Leading up to this, the teams completed the innovation phase of the lab, where they developed their respective prototypes.

During the in-person country workshops, the country teams presented their work to external stakeholders to receive feedback and activate the local ecosystem to work with the iii-lab’s outcomes.

For more details about the prototypes, see the iii-lab webpage.

Recent Events

NEW FORMAT: Q&A SPECIAL ON THE IMPLEMENTATION OF IFRS 17 | 9 JUNE

About 50 supervisors joined this very first A2ii Q&A Special. This one-hour session followed our recent Supervisory Dialogue Reflection on the Implementation of IFRS 17, where time was too short to address the significant number of questions.

Building on the content of the May dialogue, Peter Windsor, International Monetary Fund (IMF), as well as Zine Mshengu, Nonhlanhla Ndlovu and Stian Smit from the Prudential Authority within the South Africa Reserve Bank first addressed a collection of pre-submitted questions along four major themes: (1) the impact of IFRS 17 on solvency, regulatory adjustments and reporting, (2) adoption and application of IFRS 17, (3) training of supervisors and (4) the role of actuaries. This was followed by an open Q&A with participants.

A2ii Q&A Specials are designed as focused 1-hour long sessions that extend and deepen the exchange between supervisors and experts on important topics. We welcome supervisors’ suggestions on potential topics.

Recordings of both the May dialogue as well as the Q&A Special are available to supervisors on Connect.A2ii.
A2ii Participation in the IAIS Global Seminar | 16-17 June

The A2ii participated in the IAIS’ annual Global Seminar, which took place in Dubrovnik, Croatia, on June 16 and 17 and was hosted by the Croatian Financial Services Supervisory Agency (HANFA).

During the Seminar, Hannah Grant, Head of Secretariat at the A2ii, participated in a panel to discuss the role of inclusive insurance in addressing inequality and promoting sustainable development. The panel, entitled “Addressing social challenges of the day – How inclusive insurance can support sustainable development”, was also joined by Tomás Soley, General Superintendent of Insurance of Costa Rica, Ilijana Jeleč, Deputy President of the Board, Croatian Financial Services Supervisory Agency, and Shari Spiegel, Chief of Policy Analysis and Development, Financing for Sustainable Development Office, United Nations.

The panel discussed obstacles and opportunities for innovative solutions to increase uptake of inclusive insurance, including technological innovation, public/private risk-sharing initiatives to address protection gaps and adapting product offerings to meet customer needs in a post-pandemic world.

Extension of A2ii-IAA-IAIS Partnership Agreement | 17 June

The A2ii is pleased to renew the partnership agreement with the IAIS, and International Actuarial Association (IAA) for an additional five years. The partnership agreement will ensure continued capacity-building training in actuarial skills for insurance supervisors. The training is designed to strengthen the understanding and application of actuarial concepts and tools needed to support effective insurance supervision and regulation.

Victoria Saporta, Chair of the IAIS Executive Committee, Peter Braumüller, Chair of the Executive Committee and Governing Council of the A2ii, and Roseanne Harris, President of the IAA, signed the renewal of the agreement, which will become effective on 1 November 2022.

Almost 200 supervisors participated in the five regional training courses since 2019, and demand from the supervisory community keeps growing.

The A2ii is looking forward to continuing this partnership for another five years and the work on some exciting new ideas and projects coming up!

Presentation at Into Indochina Insurance Virtual Summit | 25 May

The A2ii participated in the 3rd edition of the “Into Indochina Insurance Virtual Summit, 2022” on 25 - 26 May. The summit’s focus was on how the insurance markets of Cambodia, Laos, Myanmar, Thailand and Vietnam are poised for growth and how the economies in Indochina are on a recovery trajectory with tremendous potential for growth and investment.

The session was moderator by Arup Chatterjee, Principal Financial Sector Specialist, Asian Development Bank (ADB).

The opening session on “Unlocking Market Opportunities – Digitalisation, Partnership and Collaboration” was kicked off by Conor Donaldson, CEO, Global-Asia Insurance Partnership (GAIP) who introduced the partnership and its role in addressing today’s emerging risks in the Asian market, as well as how regulators have a key role in developing inclusive insurance markets.

Showing how regulators in the region are taking steps to create an enabling environment for insurance to be more inclusive through leveraging technology, Dr Sovathana Hor, Deputy Director General, Insurance Regulator of Cambodia (IRC) talked about the latest regulatory initiatives undertaken in Cambodia, which are giving a push to digitally driven insurance models in the country. This was followed by U Thant Zin, Deputy Director General, Financial Regulatory Department, Ministry of Planning and Finance (MoPF), Myanmar who shared the state of digitalisation of the insurance market in Myanmar.
Microinsurance Network’s Asia coordinator, Kim Am presented on the landscape of inclusive insurance in South East Asia.

One key question that came up during the discussions was, what can insurance supervisors do to effectively regulate the rising use of technology and digitalisation of the insurance markets in the region?

Addressing these questions, A2ii’s Manoj Pandey presented on the supervisory responses to digital insurance models, greater usage of RegTech and SupTech and also touched upon the emergent discussions on how insurance supervisors need to ensure the human touch remains in the rapid rise of big data analytics and artificial intelligence driven models.

CONDUCT AND CULTURE - SUPERVISORY DIALOGUE | 21 JULY

Matters related to conduct and culture are of growing importance to both conduct and prudential supervisors, especially in the context of rapidly changing financial markets driven by innovation, changes in consumer expectations and broader societal changes.

The IAIS defines corporate culture as “the set of norms, values, attitudes and behaviours of an insurer that characterises the way in which the insurer conducts its activities”. How does culture shape firm behaviour in treating vulnerable customers fairly? How can firms to see purpose in inclusive insurance approaches?

These and other questions will be addressed on 21 July, when the A2ii together with the IAIS will host a Supervisory Dialogue on Conduct and Culture. Lauren Eckermann from the IAIS will be presenting the Issues Paper on Insurer Culture, published in November 2021.

The presentation will be followed by a panel discussion featuring supervisory examples on the topic moderated by Charlotte Cross, Chair of the IAIS Market Conduct Working Group and Financial Conduct Authority UK.

This webinar will be restricted to supervisors and will be taking place at 10:00 CET (with French interpretation), and at 16:00 CET (with Spanish interpretation).

About the IAIS

The International Association of Insurance Supervisors (IAIS) is a voluntary membership organisation of insurance supervisors and regulators from more than 200 jurisdictions. The mission of the IAIS is to promote effective and globally consistent supervision of the insurance industry in order to develop and maintain fair, safe and stable insurance markets for the benefit and protection of policyholders and to contribute to global financial stability.

Established in 1994, the IAIS is the international standard setting body responsible for developing principles, standards and other supporting material for the supervision of the insurance sector and assisting in their implementation. The IAIS also provides a forum for members to share their experiences and understanding of insurance supervision and insurance markets.

The IAIS coordinates its work with other international financial policymakers and associations of supervisors or regulators and assists in shaping financial systems globally. In particular, the IAIS is a member of the Financial Stability Board (FSB), member of the Standards Advisory Council of the International Accounting Standards Board (IASB) and partner in the Access to Insurance Initiative (A2ii). In recognition of its collective expertise, the IAIS also is routinely called upon by the G20 leaders and other international standard-setting bodies for input on insurance issues as well as on issues related to the regulation and supervision of the global financial sector.
